

Measures to promote human rights

- Information for applicants -

As of 7/2020

Germany is committed to protecting and promoting human rights across the world. To this end, the Federal Foreign Office provides funding to support human rights projects. This money has to be used and accounted for in accordance with German budget law.

- Such funding may only be used for specific projects with a limited and clearly defined duration and content. It is not possible to provide institutional support for organisations working in human rights (for instance by assuming ongoing personnel or operating costs).
- Individual projects can be granted sums of between 20,000 and 70,000 euros.
- Projects running over several years are not eligible for funding. Irrespective of when they launch, projects must be completed by the following 31 December at the latest.
- Already ongoing projects are in principle ineligible for funding.
- There is no entitlement to support.

Focuses of support:

Please note: This funding cannot be granted to humanitarian aid projects.

Procedure

Before we ask you for a formal application, please present your project idea in a "concept note". Refer to the following link for the form:

English

The concept note must be accompanied by a financing plan listing the project costs in detail. Organisations' running costs (e.g. rental costs, salaries of permanent staff) cannot be funded! If at all possible, the organisation should cover some of the project costs using its own funds; if it cannot, please explain why. The own funds should be described in relation to the total budget, not to individual budget items.

Once the Federal Foreign Office has approved the application, a funding agreement will be concluded under German law. Once the project has been completed, proof of employment of funds must be given in German or English, using the sample text available from the mission. Interim progress reports must be submitted for projects which run over several months.

The Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany in Kyiv will be happy to answer any questions on application or project support procedures.
